

Will Brazil's first large-scale battery be connected to the grid?

From pv magazine LatAm Brazil's transmission system operator, ISA CTEEP, has announced that the country's first large-scale battery has been connected to the grid at one of its electrical substations in Sao Paulo.

Will Brazilian batteries compete in energy auctions in 2024?

Our Standards: The Thomson Reuters Trust Principles. The Brazilian government plans to include batteries and other forms of energy storage to compete in energy auctions which are set to happen in the first half of 2024, an official from the Mines and Energy Ministry told Reuters.

Should Brazil use batteries to power its electricity grid?

Operating Brazil's electricity grid has become more complex, requiring more flexibility, as energy sources with a variable output - such as wind and solar - have gained space in the country's matrix. The batteries would help counterbalance the variability of renewable generation stepping in when output from renewable sources is lower.

The project will become the largest battery energy storage system in Brazil and is an important step for the Brazilian electricity market. Despite being a pioneer in clean energy, with wind and solar generation approaching 20GW, Brazil's energy storage market does not actually exist, mainly due to high import taxes and a lack of supportive ...
